

Announcement:
DAAD Science Slam 2015
Entertaining Science in 8 Minutes

Share your research project – Win great prizes!

Science Slams give scientists the opportunity to go on stage and present their own field of research and academic projects in a short and entertaining way to a non-specialist audience.

How does it work?

You have 8 minutes to enthuse the jury and audience. The key to success is offering an entertaining and comprehensible presentation in English that inspires the audience and excites them for the scientific projects. Scientific accuracy, of course, is necessary, but any presentation format is acceptable: you can give an amusing power point presentation, use props or conduct a live-experiment, even singing is an option.

Who can participate?

The DAAD Science Slam is open to “ideally” young Bachelor, Master and PhD students and scientists from all disciplines. The contestants must present their own research and academic project.

No matter if it is an interesting master thesis, a fascinating doctoral dissertation or a current research project that is worth sharing, every scientific project in every field of science is welcome.

Great prizes

The contestants have the chance to win material prizes worth up to 500 USD.

1. Prize 500 USD: sponsored by the main sponsor Vietinbank
2. Prize 350 USD: sponsored by B. Braun Vietnam Co., Ltd
3. Prize 200 USD: sponsored by KfW Vietnam

When and where?

The DAAD Hanoi hosts the Science Slam on Friday, June 10th 2016, 5.30 pm – 7 pm at the German-Vietnamese Centre in the Hanoi University of Science and Technology, Dai Co Viet/ Tran Dai Nghia street.

How to participate?

For registration or for further questions, please contact us via e-mail to event@daadvn.org.

Registration deadline is April 25th 2016.

Your registration should include the following information:

- Your full name
- Address, e-mail address and telephone number
- Institution/Faculty/Institute
- Topic of research
- The title of your planned presentation
- A short video clip (1 Minute) in English with an extract of your presentation or a statement on why your topic is so fascinating that it has to become part of the Science Slam.

In a pre-selection, we will choose up to 7 contestants on the basis of the applications who have the chance to present their research in front of the audience and the jury on June 10th 2016. All applicants will receive a feedback, latest May 6th 2016.

If you need more inspiration take a look at the following example:

“The Power of Plant Farts” - Kurtis Baute (EURAXESS Science Slam 2014 winner)

<https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=PMSHqoSmkys>

We are looking forward to hear from you!

DAAD Hanoi team